

The interactive 3D environment used for the digital twin

Images showing live updation of the data in the digital twin model

The demonstration presented above illustrates a key component of our system's pipeline. This segment, which is highlighted in our architectural diagram, plays a crucial role in the overall process flow.

